

‘Crisis Prevention for Seniors and Elders with Alzheimer’s Disease and Associated Dementias’...

Crisis Prevention for Seniors with Alzheimer’s and Associated Dementias is a SMB Partnership Program put in place with our San Diego partner. It is a dual-purpose program for health and benefits planning, offering an innovative solution to Alzheimer’s and dementia (offered only in San Diego).

Services come in two parts:

1. Health planning

- Treatment options for cognitively impaired patients
- Customized techniques for successful patient care giving
- Direction and support navigating the medical system and accessing community resources—and more.

Our San Diego partner, Strategies For Aging, will help the client with the services in #1 above.

2. Funding and financial planning – consultation to gather and exchange information for:

- Long term strategies
- Tactical decision making
- Benefits analysis and possible funding sources for care giving help—and more.

Senior Medi-Benefits will help the client with the services in #2 above.

The program begins November 1, 2009 and is currently in pilot phase, for select enrollees. The target audience includes adult children, spouses and/or the responsible party for cognitively impaired patients.

This program is important in looking for innovative ways to reach SMB’s core clientele of seniors and elders with debilitating illnesses.

One of the consistent areas where there is a systemic lack of options for care and funding options are those suffering from Alzheimer’s and Dementia. So often these stricken individuals need help in multiple areas at the same time: health and lifestyle issues, care giving issues, funding problems, lack of benefits problems, long term family strife and destruction of relationships.
